Student Climate Action Grant Application

Deadline for submissions is December 1st, by email to lraucher@barnard.edu with subject line: Student Climate Action Grant Submission

Overview

We are pleased to announce the Student Climate Action Grant for the 2019-20 academic year, to support student(s) or student group(s) in developing and implementing a project relating to sustainability, climate action, or human interactions with the environment. The intention of this grant is to give students the resources to be a part of creating positive changes here on our campus, and/or piloting solutions that are applicable in New York City and beyond. We are looking for projects that confront local and/or global sustainability challenges, prioritize the role of women and marginalized communities in building solutions, and have a strong connection to our own campus.

Ideas may include but are not limited to:

- Pilot programs to lower campus emissions across Scopes 1, 2, or 3
- Increase waste diversion rates
- Increase climate activism
- Educate or raise awareness of climate change and impacts on women and marginalized communities
- Create initiatives that support synergies between sustainability, diversity and inclusion, and student health and wellness
- Development of new campus organizations
- Expand/support sustainable programming for existing campus organizations
- Host guest lectures, screenings, or events.

Incentives

Grants awarded will range from $500-$1500.
